

Code of Conduct

The Seattle Children's Museum invites everyone to engage in playful, creative, hands-on exploration and discovery to encourage active, lifelong learning.

We welcome all children and their adults, of all abilities, ages, ethnicities, genders, immigration statuses, races, religions, sexual orientations, and socioeconomic statuses. We are committed to ensuring all guests have a positive and safe experience. We expect our staff and guests to act responsibly and be kind and considerate of others as we share this space.

Mutual Respect:

We value and respect our diverse visitors and staff and expect the same from our guests.

The Seattle Children's Museum does not tolerate rude, inappropriate, or unwelcome behavior toward other guests or employees, whether verbal, physical, or visual. Use or display of obscene or abusive language is prohibited. If you notice any of this type of behavior, please notify staff.

Museum staff reserves the right to refuse admission, revoke membership, and/or remove any person without refund for any reason. This includes violating these policies or exhibiting unsafe, inappropriate or disruptive behavior, or behavior likely to cause damage.

Adult Supervision:

Adult guests are responsible for the supervision of their children at all times. No children are allowed in the Museum without an adult.

Attire:

Appropriate attire is required by all, including shirts and bottoms. Shoes on adults are also required and strongly encouraged on children.

Allowed Items:

You may bring the following to the Museum:

- Water or drinks in lidded (preferably spill-proof) containers
- Food, as long as it stays packed away and is only eaten in designated snacking areas
- Service animals

You may not bring the following to the Museum:

- Firearms or weapons of any kind
- Drinks in unlidded or easy-to-spill containers
- Pets and emotional support animals

The Museum reserves the right to add, withdraw, or otherwise modify these policies as it deems necessary at any time. Please contact Museum staff with any questions, needs, or concerns.
